Crash Landing Blocks Runway in Blizzard

GREAT FALLS, Mont. (AP) — The only available runway at Malmstrom Air Force Base here was blocked by a crash-landing T33 jet trainer when a flight of Air Force fighters was scattered by a blizzard early Tuesday.

Unable to find refuge in the blinding snow, three of the twin jet F89 Scorpions plunged to earth, killing four airmen.

Other planes in the flight used their last reserves of fuel to find safe landings at fields and airstrips as far distant as 250 miles. A Malmstrom spokesman said he believed fewer than 20 craft were involved.

The spokesman declined to blame the T33 trainer for the crashes. The trainer sheared off its landing gear when it apparently landed short on an 11,000-ft runway where some construction work is in progress.

The Air Force here left unanswered many questions concerning the flight of Scorpions, all weather interceptors capable of speeds up to 700 m.p.h.

It refused to say to what base or bases the planes were destined, or the nature of their flight.

Veterans Day Observance Over Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation paid tribute today to veterans of past wars and heard a warning from a former top commander that freedom could be lost by default to Communism.

The warning was sounded by retired Gen. Albert Wedemeyer in a talk at the Arlington National Cemetery Amphitheater after a wreath was laid at the Tomb of the Unknowns as a climax of the national observance of Veterans Day.

Throughout the nation and at military posts around the world, similar ceremonies were held. There were parades, talks of glory and of death and services in memory of the dead of past wars in most cities.

"We could close our freedoms by default simply because we take them for granted," Wedemeyer told crowds gathered at the Tomb of the Unknowns where Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, Army chief of staff laid the wreath of memory.

"Every informed American knows that communism has infiltrated in varying degrees into our schools, labor unions, churches and some branches of government," Wedemeyer said.

"This could never have happened were it not for false concepts of Americanism—and the apathy of many of our fellow citizens."

Cranberries Being Stored on West Coast

ALBANY, Ore. (AP) — Three million pounds of Oregon cranberries are moving into storage. Another million pounds were buried here because they may have been sprayed with a weed killer, that produced cancer in a rat.

William Dufort said Tuesday: "These berries were destroyed, not because we know they contain a chemical which would cause cancer, but on the merest chance the chemical might be found on them."

Dufort, Oregon manager of Spray Cranberries, Inc., said at Bandon, Ore., the cranberries buried a month ago were from the 1957 crop and those moving into storage are from the 1959 crop.

Not a berry in the 1959 crop will go to market until the Federal Food and Drug Administration approves it, he said. He said the harvest this year in Oregon coastal areas near Bandon was nearly complete.

"The federal agency said aminothiazole, a chemical used to kill weeds in Washington and Oregon cranberry bogs, was found to cause cancer in a rat."

President Adds Spain, Tunisia to Goodwill Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today added Spain and Tunisia to his previously announced nine-nation goodwill tour starting Dec. 4.

The White House said the President will meet with President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia aboard the U. S. cruiser Des Moines off Tunis Dec. 17. At that time he will be en route from Athens, Greece, to Toulon, France.

James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary, also announced Eisenhower's acceptance of an invitation to visit Generalissimo Francisco Franco in Spain.

After the Western summit conference in Paris, Eisenhower will fly to Madrid the afternoon of Dec. 21. He will leave the next morning for Rabat, Morocco, en route to Washington.

Hagerty said at the present time no negotiations are going on for stops in any other country.

Commenting on a report from Bangkok that Eisenhower has accepted an invitation to visit Thailand on some indefinite date, Hagerty said he knows of no plans to visit Thailand although invitations to visit that country and others have long been on file.

Asked about French President Charles de Gaulle's news conference statement that a second conference of Western leaders may be necessary before an East-West conference, Hagerty said anything like that will have to wait on the Dec. 19 meeting of Western chiefs in Paris.

Man Van Doren Ousted Caused His Exposure

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP) — The man Charles Van Doren ousted on the rigged TV quiz show "Twenty-One" conducted a crusade to expose Van Doren as a fraud, a House committee investigator says.

The contestant, Herbert Stempel, has testified he was ordered by the show's producers to lose deliberately to Van Doren. Stempel himself had won $40,000.

Stempel was infuriated by Van Doren's going on to win 129,000 and uncertain nationwide fame as a great brain, investigator Richard N. Goodwin writes in a Life magazine article.

"Stempel embarked upon what he called a crusade for truth but which became a campaign to expose Van Doren and the entire fraudulent quiz show business," Goodwin said.

Goodwin said Stempel was one of the best sources of information the House subcommittee had in setting up the hearings that disclosed that the television quiz shows were shot through with fixing and fakery.

The climax for Stempel came last week, Goodwin said, when Van Doren finally confessed to the committee that he had been given all the answers in advance, as well as coaching on how to grimace and sweat from his brow in the isolation booth.

"Stempel flew down from New York to watch him testify," Goodwin said. "He sat in a section of the cavernous room where he could see Van Doren's face. His long campaign had come to a dramatic end; Phony quiz shows had been destroyed."

Goodwin added, "Stempel's feelings about 'Twenty-One' itself went deeper than his admittedly strong feelings about Van Doren. While he was on the show, Stempel was called 'the poor boy from Brooklyn' (he wasn't poor, and he was from Queens)."

"In his humble role he had to address the master of ceremonies as 'Mr. Barry.' Other contestants called him 'Jack.' Every week Stempel wore the same old suit and a shirt that was frayed around the collar. One night he decided to wear a good suit. After the show, producer Dan Enright said: 'You're not doing your homework, Herb.'"

Harris Cites Issue in Quiz Probes

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Question on whether Americans "are willing to accept immorality, deception and fraud as part of our lives" should be raised by the charges of television quiz show rigging, Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.) said last night.

Harris, chairman of a House Committee on Legislative Oversight, which investigated the quiz shows, addressed a church group. "Sometimes it takes sensationalism and dramatic incidents to shake our better senses of judgment and to remind us of the higher and finer goals," Harris said.

The congressman said his committee at first was criticized for doubting the honesty of quiz shows, but that sentiment changed as facts were brought to light.

Quit Trying to Pick Fight, Panama Told

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has told Panama to stop trying to pick a fight.

The U. S. government is also trying to find out whether it is true that Panamanian police were ordered to stay away from the American Embassy when demonstrations were being made there Nov. 3 and 4.

The U. S. statement, given Tuesday to the Panamanian charge d'affaires, Arturo Morgan-Morales, said Panama should end "inflammatory public allegations" arising out of the demonstrations.

The Panamanian extremists have been agitating for inkery over the canal, which is operated by the United States in the Canal Zone. It has rented "in perpetuity" from Panama.

Testimony in Bell Case Completed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Testimony has been completed in the protracted Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. rate case.

After opposing attorneys make their final arguments — either orally or through written briefs — the Public Service Commission will take the two-pronged case under consideration.

The commission last spring ordered Bell to show cause why its Arkansas rates should not be reduced by approximately three million dollars yearly.

Bell denied a commission suggestion that the rates were excessive, said in fact that it wasn't earning a fair rate of return and instead of a reduction asked that it be permitted an increase of approximately $425,000 annually in certain miscellaneous charges not part of the basic rate structure.

Since then the PSC has held a series of frequently-postponed hearings on both points. It heard its last witness late yesterday.

He was Arnold Hirsch, Washington, D. C., utility expert, who had testified that Bell rates were too high and was called back to the witness stand to defend his views after company witnesses had disputed them.

Last witness for Bell was Warren E. Bray, vice president and general manager for Arkansas, who said that if the proposed rate reduction should be ordered the company wouldn't be earning but around four percent on its investment.

He said one would be foolish to invest for such a return when much higher returns were available.

Cover Crops Seeding Date Set Nov. 21

According to H. B. Gilbert, chairman of the Hempstead ASC County Committee, the final date for seeding winter legumes and cover crops has been extended Nov. 1 to Nov. 21, 1959.

The crops for which the seeding date was extended are, Vetch, Austrian Winter Peas, Singletary Peas, Crimson Clover, Ryegrass, and Oats. This extension was deemed necessary because of excessive rain in some areas and lateness in harvesting field crops.

It is estimated that some crops in the County are two to three weeks later than normal.

Mr. Gilbert further stated that all farmers in Hempstead County who are holding prior approvals, should get their Purchase Orders, if desired and make the necessary arrangements to complete seeding of all legumes and cover crops by no later than Dec. 1, 1959.

The chairman also said that producers needing additional seed or those filling requests for first time should do so immediately in order that the County Committee may act upon their request in time for practices to be completed by the final date.

Segregationist, Negro File for Dollarway Board

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — A Negro and a member of a die-hard segregationist group have filed as candidates in a race for a position on the Dollarway School Board.

The nearby Dollarway District has been the focal point of a seething controversy over school integration. So far the school board has blocked any race-mixing.

The Negro candidate is Charles Knott, 48, who farms and does carpentry work. He once served a five-year term on the school board, ending in 1956.

Tommy Gee, 42, who identified himself as a member of the Dollarway Citizens Council, opposes Knott and an incumbent.

Knott and Gee filed yesterday for the board position now held by Rob W. Bryant, who seeks reelection in the Dec. 1 school balloting. Bryant is the only member up for reelection.

Newsman where unable to reach Knott for comment on his candidacy. Gee said he did not want to say anything about the integration dispute at this time.

A five-year term is at stake in the three-way race.

Knott and his wife have a grown son. Gee has two sons enrolled in the all white Dollarway school. A native of Mississippi, Gee has lived in the Dollarway district for 14 years and is a foreman at an automobile trim shop in Pine Bluff.

Gee said he had nothing against Bryant and originally thought the incumbent did not plan to seek reelection.

Bryant, 47, is in his second term. He is employed at the Pine Bluff Arsenal.

After declining comment on the fact that one of his opponents is a Negro, Bryant said, "I don't understand why we have to have three runnings." He said he believed he had served the people as they wanted to be served.

The Dollarway district, near Pine Bluff, made headlines earlier this year when three Negro children sought to enroll in an all-white school. It was the first bid for integration in the area. A federal district judge decided in a court suit that the Negroes should be permitted to enter the white school but the ruling was overturned by an appeals court.

Some 1,200 residents of the Dollarway district had petitioned Gov. Orval E. Faubus to resist the judge's integration order with every means at his command.

After the appeals court rejected the Negroes' attempt for immediate integration, the school board assigned the trio to an all-Negro school in the district. The board acted under an Arkansas pupil placement law aimed at restricting desegregation.

The Negroes appealed to the board from their assignments. A crowd of whites demonstrated at a hearing on the matter and threw stones at automobiles carrying the Negroes.

When the board turned down the appeals, the Negroes filed exceptions to the refusal under administrative procedures of the placement law. The board has set a closed meeting tonight to act on the exceptions.

Would Step Up State Rabies Vaccinations

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Health Department yesterday called for a step-up in vaccination of pets and control of stray animals because of an outbreak of rabies.

Dr. Robert Ellis, department veterinarian, said three Phillips County youths yesterday began the painful series of anti-rabies shots as two more cases of rabies in dogs were identified in the area.

The boys are the sons of J. J. Greyser, Sr. of Mayfield. Ellis said the Health Department also had identified rabies in a coon and a fox. He said this was the first report from that area, indicating the outbreak may have spread from northwest and eastern Arkansas where it was reported earlier.

Ellis said the department has found 24 cases of rabies, mostly in animals, this year, compared to 100 cases in this time a year ago.

Followers of Peron Raided in Argentina

TUCUMAN, Argentina (AP)—A raid on an armed camp in the mountains, police say, has uncovered a plot by followers of Juan D. Peron for a Castro-type guerrilla campaign to restore the ousted dictator to power.

Three youths were captured in the raid Saturday on the completely outfitted, well-armed camp 6,600 feet up in the mountains near this leading center 665 miles north-west of Buenos Aires.

The youths said they were recruited by a newly organized "National Peronista Recuperation Movement" which has plans to wage guerrilla warfare against the government of President Arturo Frondizi.

The police believe the youths were only guards, and that most of the conspirators escaped. They arrested several well-known admirers of Peron in Tucuman Sunday.

Peron's followers have been blamed for terrorist activity, but this was the first sign they might be preparing for guerrilla warfare. Peron was overthrown in September 1955. Now in exile in the Dominican Republic, he has proclaimed he will eventually come back.

A force of 30 policemen made their way into the mountain Saturday and sighted the camp with eight persons in it. Five were in the heavy vegetation.

The raided camp was named "no. 15" by its members.

Police said the camp was stocked with provisions for 50 men as well as arms, ammunition, explosives stolen from military installations, a uniform and bayonet stolen from a police officer and books on military tactics.

Chapter XXI

Manoel's first words that evening — and his eyes — made her very aware of being in the pink strapless. "A pink cloud," he said. "A vision one sees only when the gods bless one unduly."

Hardly realizing what she was doing, as she went into her bedroom for her wrap, she pushed the door near shut and closed her eyes; she said a sort of prayer for Kim not to misunderstand. Her first serious date with Kim had been to a symphony, and somehow the whole thing was so similar to tonight and yet so different.

The marble columns in the entrance to the Teatro de Pas stood with dignity, but the seats in which she and Manoel sat were frayed. The paintings on the ceiling were faded, and fallen plaster had left Faust without a nose.

But when the lights dimmed and "O Guarani," Brazil's favorite opera, began, she forgot her surroundings. The orchestra was small but the song of the hunters was vigorous and the accompaniments came out rich and true.

Manoel took her to the Pousa Clube afterward and she searched the room fearfully; but neither Guarani nor the Pintas were there. Manoel ordered pastries and coffee.

"Tell me about yourself," he said then.

For an instant she feared that he would go on to ask her how Kim had died, or if there had been any children. "My father was an art dealer," she stopped. She remembered her childhood so vividly yet there was nothing to tell about. There was nothing in her whole life to tell about except "Timmy, Timmy and Kim. And I was happy sometimes" — she made herself say something — "and terribly unhappy other times." She paused. "That doesn't tell you much, does it?" The things she remembered she couldn't talk about.

He didn't answer for a long moment. Then he said, "I'm going to my home soon, Sara, up on the Rio Topajos. There's nothing like the jungle, Sara querida. Nothing." He was looking at her intently, as though watching every line of her face for reaction. "My great grandmother was Indian."

"Perhaps she was a Guarani princess," Sara said lightly. Manoel made nothing of her interpolation. "In every generation, there've been many children; my father is the first Fontes to have only one child — in all these nine generations since the first Fontes came from Portugal." He spoke deliberately, as if giving her a chance to approve, or disapprove, his ancestry.

"Is your house full of relatives?"

"No. Most of the family left the jungle to my father and my grandfather and went off to the cities. Rio and Sao Paulo." He looked down at his demitasse. "There was nothing to keep them when there was no market for rubber. How my father held on —"

He looked up, his face a mixture of pride and bitterness. "But here I am off on this again. And I meant to talk about pleasant things. You."

She didn't want to talk about herself.

He finished his prety before he answered, and his dark lashes seemed to rest on his tan face. "There's a saying in our family, paleface," he said and held out an upturned wrist in his clenched hand making the veins stand out. "That we bleed latex. Rubber to us is a way of life, not just something to do eight hours a day."

"What did you people do when you had no rubber market?"

"Brazil nuts. They hold second place in our hearts, and right now they hold first in our pocket-books. That's why I'm going home week after next. Brazil nuts ripen in December. We'll need extra workers. I'll help my father round them up."

"There won't be any later tapper on your estate then?" she asked.

"We don't end men out to the rubber trees during the rainy season," he said, defensively, as if she had made an accusation.

"The rainy season is already starting, isn't it? There'll be rains in December."

"Brazil nut trees grow in groves. Sara; we have graveled paths to them."

"Then why not paths to the rubber trees?" he asked. "Why did you keep on with the estate? It was the warehouse she should be talking about."

"Don't you know how rubber trees grow? His voice had an edge. "Rubber trees are always scattered. They refuse to be crowded together like pigs. They grow on here, the next maybe a quarter of a mile away, maybe a half, or even a mile or more."

She recalled Ube's pride in his strength; now she understood what he was talking about when he said his route was wild and rough.

"I'll miss you when you go home. Who will be in charge at the warehouse, in case I want to sketch the harbor again?"

"I don't know. Maybe I should leave you, paleface," he said jokingly and at the same time bit-

"I'll miss you when you go home. Who will be in charge at the warehouse, in case I want to sketch the harbor again?"

"I don't know. Maybe I should leave you, paleface," he said jokingly and at the same time bit-tened. "In every generation,

there've been many children; my father is the first Fontes to have only one child — in all these nine generations since the first Fontes came from Portugal." He spoke deliberately, as if giving her a chance to approve, or disapprove, his ancestry.

"Is your house full of relatives?"

"No. Most of the family left the jungle to my father and my grandfather and went off to the cities. Rio and Sao Paulo." He looked down at his demitasse. "There was nothing to keep them when there was no market for rubber. How my father held on —"

He looked up, his face a mixture of pride and bitterness. "But here I am off on this again. And I meant to talk about pleasant things. You."

She didn't want to talk about herself.

He finished his prety before he answered, and his dark lashes seemed to rest on his tan face. "There's a saying in our family, paleface," he said and held out an upturned wrist in his clenched hand making the veins stand out. "That we bleed latex. Rubber to us is a way of life, not just something to do eight hours a day."

"What did you people do when you had no rubber market?"

"Brazil nuts. They hold second place in our hearts, and right now they hold first in our pocket-books. That's why I'm going home week after next. Brazil nuts ripen in December. We'll need extra workers. I'll help my father round them up."

"There won't be any later tapper on your estate then?" she asked.

"We don't end men out to the rubber trees during the rainy season," he said, defensively, as if she had made an accusation.

"The rainy season is already starting, isn't it? There'll be rains in December."

"Brazil nut trees grow in groves. Sara; we have graveled paths to them."

Negro Throws Self on Mercy of Court

BLITCHVILLE, Ark. — A 49-year-old Negro, charged with the attempted rape of a six-year-old white girl, pleaded nolo contendere in circuit court yesterday.

The charge against Flavor Johnson had been reduced from rape to attempted rape after medical evidence would not support the former charge. Judge Charles Light took the case under advisement and said Johnson would be sentenced Friday.

Light said the negro plea meant, in effect, that Johnson did not know what he was doing and he was throwing himself on the mercy of the court. The rape charge carries a minimum penalty of death, but a charge of attempted rape carries a 21-year sentence, Light said.

"The men would like to see me eaten by all the piranhas in the Amazon."

"Why? Because you are their boss?"

"No, because I am a Fontes. Because I happened to be born in the casa grande instead of the senzala."

She sipped her coffee and looked away. She was vaguely aware that he had used Portuguese for big house and slave quarters; it was fun to mix the languages but it was not fun to talk on something that seemed to bring out resentment in him.

Damage was estimated at $15-000 yesterday in a fire that badly apparently started from a defective water heater. There were no injuries.

Women Seek Seats on L. R. School Board

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Two Little Rock school board members who helped launch a plan of token integration in public high schools will face opposition from two women in the Dec. 1 school election.

The women, Mrs. Margaret Morrison and Mrs. H. H. Ray, dis-claimed segregationist backing when they filed nominating petitions last night one hour before the midnight deadline.

"We just decided there should be some women on the board," said Mrs. Morrison. "We are not members of any segregationist organizations."

Mrs. Morrison, however, ran against Board President Everett Tucker Jr., last December as a member of a segregationist ticket.
She filed to oppose Tucker again.
Mrs. Ray will run against B.
Frank Mackey who was appointed to the board to replace one of three segregationists recalled in for Varsity U of A Freshman football game that night.

Mrs. P. L. Perkins has returned home from Texarkana where she underwent minor surgery last

DOROTHY DIX

Should Girl, 36, Marry
Only For Companionship?

Dear Dorothy Dix:

I am single, 36, goodlooking, earning $80, and with, of course, a problem. I have had my share of dates and proposals, none of which interested me enough. Now I find my circle of male friends dwindling, leaving me with many lonesome evenings. I have one friend my own age, and though I enjoy his company, I'm not sure I love him. He is very good company and we enjoy the same things. We have discussed marriage, but he refuses to consider living with my parents, which we would have to do.

He likes to go where he wishes, when he wishes. Though I don't think I'd like to marry him, I hate the thought of giving up his friendship. He, however, won't continue seeing me unless I agree to marriage on his terms. Please don't say I'm silly because to me this situation is serious. — Faustina.

Dear Faustina: Contrary to considering you silly, I think you are very wise and sensible. Too many unhappy marriages result from a need for companionship that isn't satisfied after the wedding. Men who insist that marriage be on their terms are certainly exhibiting selfishness that isn't likely to disappear when they become husbands.

When a woman has been independent all her life, is capable of earning a good salary, and accustomed to spending it as she pleases, marriage in the form of fettered slavery is not so alluring.
There are many things worse than loneliness, and a miserable married life is one of them.

Dear Dorothy Dix:

Three years ago I fell in love with a boy from out of town. He has told me that he loves me, but sometimes I don't hear from him for months. Now I haven't seen or heard from him for three weeks. How can I get him off my mind? — Gladys.

Dear Gladys: The best way to get someone off your mind is to substitute your thoughts of him for something else. Unless the boy has some very unusual reason for acting as he does — and it's up to you to ask him what it is — he certainly doesn't behave like a boy in love. Obviously, then, you are wasting time thinking so much about him. Get into all available activity in your town, and you'll find new friends providing material for your thoughts.

Dear Dorothy Dix:

I haven't heard from the family since my sister-in-law's aunt died last year. As I have been very busy with my own family, I didn't pay much attention to their silence, but now I hear that they are angry with me because I didn't send flowers. Why I didn't,
I don't know. I paid my respects by visiting and going to the funeral. I am very upset over the matter and wonder what to do.
— W. A. W.

Dear W. A. W.: Since you paid your respects, you covered the major amenities of the situation, and your sister-in-law should not be so hurt over your failure to send flowers. However, in time of bereavement, one is naturally more inclined to be sensitive than at other times. It's quite possible that the breach caused by your oversight may never be healed.
But even at this late date, a letter of explanation and apology may help ease the situation.

Send your problem to DORO-THY DIX.
Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and address her care of this newspaper.

Convict Shoots, Wounds Officers

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—An escaped convict shot and wounded three policemen in a running gun battle today and then was chased down and wounded himself.

Under the glare of fire truck searchlights, officers rushed a rooming house in which the convict, Charles Randolph Davenport, 24, had barricaded himself, and brought him out.

Three charges of felonious shooting were placed against Davenport, a Negro, who had escaped from a Caroline County, Va., prison camp Oct. 5. He was serving a five-year sentence for auto theft.

The condition of the wounded, all hospitalized, was reported as fair.

a May 25 election.

Segregationist groups failed to enter candidates.

Tucker was one of three members of a moderate slate elected last year when all six board positions were open following the mass resignation of the previous board.
Three members of the segregationist slate won in that vote, but all three were recalled in May in the wake of a teacher purge. Vol-ing was close in every race.

The board, as reorganized after the recall election, has admitted eight Negroes to two once-white high schools under statu-tutory pupil placement laws. There have been no serious incidents at the schools.

Four Perish in Fire at Tucker

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Four persons burned to death in a house fire at nearby Tucker early today.

ing. In each of the previous fires four persons also died.

Those who died today were Negroes.

The victims were Susan Harrison, 65, of Milwaukee, Wis., a visitor at the house; Ora Lee Robinson, 25, and Mrs. Robinson's two children, Frank a year old, and Dorothy Lynn, 3 months.

Lake Robinson, husband of Mrs.
Robinson, was burned badly and

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Little Rock Hall High's Warriors and Fort Smith's Grizzlies are tied for the top spot in the Arkansas Sports Writers' Association's weekly prep football poll.

Each drew two first place votes from the committee of six writers. Each had 53 points. Fort Smith blasted Fort Springs last week 54-0 and Hall took the week off after beating Fort Smith, 13-7.

El Dorado, which also drew two first place votes, ranks third with 70 points. Pine Bluff was fourth and North Little Rock, which upset Little Rock Central last week 14-12, rose from ninth position to fifth.

Hall holds the Big Nine Conference lead with a 5-1 record. El Dorado is 4-1-1. Those two meet Nov. 20 in El Dorado in the game that will decide the championship.

El Dorado is the defending champion and led the weekly poll for five weeks until it was tied by North Little Rock and lost to Pine Bluff. Hall beat both those teams.

Forrest City, which won its 8th straight game last week over Jonesboro, 13-7, moved into sixth place ahead of defeated Central.

Little Rock Catholic was eighth and Texarkana placed ninth.

Crossett, whose Eagles tied Pine Bluff last week 6-6, moved into the top ten for the first time this season, showing Benton out of 10th place. Benton lost to Malvern last week.

Portage and Walnut Ridge, the state's undefeated and top-ranking Class A teams, rank 12th and 13th this week.

The games of consequence in the Big Nine this week are Little Rock Central at Pine Bluff and Fort Smith at North Little Rock.

Blytheville is at Texarkana and hapless Hot Springs, which has lost nine straight, goes to El Dorado. Hall plays Jacksonville, a Class AA team.

Here are the top ten Arkansas high school football teams as determined by the weekly Arkansas Sports Writers' Assn. poll. First place votes in parentheses and total points at right.

Homecoming for Undefeated Hope Juniors

The Hope Junior High School Bobkittens will observe homecoming in their game with the Camden Junior High eleven Thursday night at Hammans Stadium.

In a preliminary game to the season's final Junior High School engagement the 7th and 8th grade teams of the two schools will meet in a game beginning at 6 p.m.

Kickoff time for the Bobkitten and Junior Panther game is set for 7:30 p.m.

Homecoming ceremonies with Junior High School Queen, maids and band performance will be observed.

Coach Gordon Beasley's Juniors are undefeated through six games and carry a perfect season record to lay on the line against the strong Camden Juniors. As far as can be determined this is the only Junior High School team in Southwest Arkansas boasting an undefeated record.

The Bobkittens hold a 12 to 0 victory over the strong Texarkana Jefferson Avenue Junior High School city champions of the border city and are the only team to have defeated Nashville, winners of the Junior 7-A District crown. The Junior Scrappers went down 13 to 0.

Other wins by Coach Beasley's Juniors during the current season are over Prescott 21 to 0; Arkadelphia 28 to 6; and Magnolia, 20 to 6.

In an early season game with Camden the locals emerged winners over the Junior Panthers 20 to 6 in a hard fought game. This is the only loss for Camden this year and the Panthers are anxious to even the score.

The public is urged to come out to Hammans Stadium tomorrow night and see this year's Juniors in action as it will be their final game of the season. If the Bobkittens win this will be the first undefeated Junior high eleven in the history of the school as far as can be determined.

Syracuse Players Like Orange Bowl

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Syracuse University football players have voted to go to the Orange Bowl. The university is likely to follow their wishes.

Syracuse, unbeaten, untied and ranked No. 1 in this week's Associated Press poll, would meet the Big Eight team, probably Colorado or Kansas.

The Orange whipped Kansas handsily this season, 35-21.

A source high in the university athletic affairs confirmed that the team had voted Monday night to go to Miami Jan. 1.

Athletic Director Lewis P. Andrews could not be reached for comment.

It was reported Syracuse had received bids from the Orange, Cotton, and Liberty bowls.

Syracuse has played twice in the Orange Bowl and lost both times—61-6 to Alabama and 21-6 to Oklahoma. The team is eager to avenge those defeats. In its 1958 Cotton Bowl venture, Syracuse was edged, 28-27.

No Decision as Yet on Jim Mooty

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Jim Mooty, the Arkansas Razorbacks' top running threat, may miss Saturday's crucial Southwest Conference game against Southern Methodist at Dallas.

Mooty has made either of the Hogs' two practices this week because of a knee injury suffered in last week's 14-10 victory over Rice.

The Porkers worked on their offense and defense against SMU formations and plays yesterday.

Arkansas can clinch second place and keep alive its chances for the Southwest Championship, or at least a share of it, by beating the Ponies Saturday. SMU will be spoiling for an upset. The Mustangs still had a title chance when Arkansas upset them 13-0 last year.

SMU, Texas, Ole Miss Seen as Winners

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NANDI, Fiji Islands (AP) — This is the romantic island where the cop on the corner wears a skirt and his wife wears a dress. The confusion is terrific. So how can we be certain of picking the correct winners in the college football dress parade?

Syracuse over Colgate: With hardly a deep breath.

Northwestern over Michigan State: Ron Burton gets the Evanston Wildcats back on the winning side.

Louisiana State over Mississippi State: Billy Cannon and his LSU playmates are snarling after that loss to Tennessee.

Washington over California: That Washington defense and George Fleming's kicking may carry the Huskies into the Rose Bowl.

Texas over Texas Christian: Another step to the Cotton Bowl.

Oklahoma over Army: The Sooners need this victory to salvage what has become for them a dreary season.

Elsewhere:
Georgia Tech over Alabama, from $16,000 to 17,500, the legal maximum.

The Atlanta Journal story said Broyles would meet with Florida representatives Dec. 1. "That's as wrong as can be," said Broyles.

News Briefs

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Indian officials indicated today Prime Minister Nehru is willing to meet with Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai to discuss their border dispute but not at the price of leaving a large area of India-claimed territory in Chinese control.

The officials also emphasized that unless the ground is carefully prepared for a Nehru-Chou conference and there is some indication of an acceptable settlement, it would be better not to open talks.

PANAMA (AP) — The National Assembly voted Monday night to continue working to get the flag of Panama flying "over our territory" in the Panama Canal Zone.

A resolution, voted unanimously, strongly condemned American authorities in the Canal zone for opposing by force what it called the "pacific hoisting of the Panamanian flag in Panamanian territory."

More than 80 persons were injured last Tuesday when U.S. Army police in the zone, U.S. Army troops and members of the Panamanian National Guard prevented nationalist demonstrators from raising the Panamanian flag in the zone to underline the demands for Panamanian sovereignty.
